The Committees reported the following, which were adopted unanimously:

We, the passengers of the steamship Golden Gate on the present trip from San Francisco to Panama, feel that we should fall in a duty, as well as miss a pleasure, did we part with Captain Patterson without exppressing our high estimate of his splendid ship and his seamanlike and goutdemanile course as commander. We cannot but admire the quiet yet effective discipline prevailing on board, perfecting every detail with the regularity and precision of clockwork while the weights and springs, the sources of power, are unseen yet felt. We commend the neatness of the ship, the disposition displayed to make the passage as pleasant as speedy—one that might and will be a grateful souvenir in the future; and it gives us pleasant to say that we have seen exhibited on board this ship by the commanding officer upon all occasions that highest quantity of command, without which obedience is but servillity, and its benefits anything but grateful—the tone, bearing and sentiments of the gentleman. And now, at parting, after a very pleasant voyage, it is most gratifying to wish the officers of the Golden Gate a long usefulness a proud estimate by the public, and a happy life, and to the steamship of the Pacific never-failing good fortune.

On motion, the moeting adjourned.

NEW MONTHLY .- The subscri-of a new monthly publication to be entitled THE NA-TIONAL MAGAZINE, devoted to Literature, Art, Religion, and General Intelligence.

Assuming that a "progressive" spirit, practical predilections, and the religious sentiment, are characteristics of the American mind, and that these are not incapable of union with the best astatic tastes, it will be the aim of this periodical to combine, with such articles as the popular mind usually reliables with most avidity, an elevated literary tone, a critical appreciation of art, the discussion of great practical questions, and a just recognition of religion—religion without dogmentism and without sectarianism. Nothing shall appear in it which can directly or indirectly offend the general Christian sentiment, or render it unwelcome to the purest religious family.

It will be embeliabled with numerous engravings—most of them illustrative of real scenes or facts. Besides an abundant miscellany of Essays, Sketches, Translations, Foetry, &c., original and selected, it will comprise departments of Literary News, Art Intelligence, Book Notices, Religious Information, and General News, prepared thoroughly by skillful hands.

The public may rely with certainty on the resular and permanent issue of the "NATIONAL MAGAZINE," as the fullest provisions for editing and publishing it have been made, based upon a capital entirely competent to the design. It will be published at the commencement of each month, and centrain ninety-six pages per number, making two volumes per annum, of nearly six hundred pages each. It will be the largest monthly of its price in the United States. A liberal discount will be made to wholesale purchasers. To clergymen, and others who act as agents in procuring rubscribers, a commission of 20 per cent, will be allowed, or a sixth copy of the work for five subscribers. Terms, $2 per annum, in advance. This is, we believe, the first attempt at a complete History of the United States. The remier who desires to inform himself in all the particulars, indicate and political, of the An erican Revolution, will find that they have been scrupiously collected for him by Mr. Hidreth.

It has condensed into consecutive marraine the substance of hundreds of schimes.

His work fills a went, and is, therefore, most welcome. Its positive merits, in addition to those we have before mentioned, are imparisanty, steadiness of view, clear appreciation of character, and, in point of style, a tersor—as and conciseness not unlike Tantus, with not a little, too, of Tactaran vapor of thought, stern sense of institute, sharp irony, and profound weekens.

The History of the Revolution is clearly and succinctly told.

The chief merits of Mr. Hildreth's work are nickly and candor of spirit, and perspecuity and tersences of style.
